

Call for Chapters for Inclusion in “The Varied Origins of the Cyber Men: Volume One”

The Varied Origins of the Cyber Men:
Volume One

Release Date: 19
November 2020 -
International Men's Day

Chapter Submissions
Now Open

amazon
kindle | direct publishing

Introduction and Book Outline

It is well known that men dominate the cyber security and technology industries. According to a recent report from \(ISC\)² men outnumber women in cybersecurity by three to one. While the first book in this series “The Rise of the Cyber Women: Volume One” focused on giving a platform to women in the cyber security and tech industries who had a non-technical journey into the industry and background, this book “The Varied Origins of the Cyber Men: Volume One” will focus on the men who are doing the same.

“The Varied Origins of the Cyber Men: Volume One” will be a compilation of inspiring stories and accounts from men in the cyber security and technology industries who are pioneers and leading the way in helping to protect the world from the growing cyber threat. It is hoped that this book will feature men in the cyber security industry from all over the world.

Those who are included and featured in the book will give their hints, tips, and advice to those who are looking to pursue a career in cyber security or technology or change their career path into cyber security or technology.

Submission Requirements

The Editors are looking for inspirational stories and accounts from men in the cyber security industry from all over the world who would like to be featured in the book, which will be released via Amazon Kindle Direct Publishing.

We are ideally looking to feature:

- Men who haven't had a linear path or journey into the cyber security and technology industries
- Men who entered the cyber security and technology industries from a non-technical background
- Men who started out in an entirely different industry to cyber security and technology
- Men who have overcome challenges or adversity to get to where they are today in cyber security or technology

We would love chapters to contain any relevant inspirational quotes, hints, and tips that you have which will encourage other men to enter the industry. And if you have had any animosity from any of your colleagues, male or female, we'd also love to know how you dealt with this.

All chapters should be written in the first person, and the length of the chapter should be between 3000 – 5000 words maximum.

Please include the following along with your chapter:

Your Name
Your Job Title
Your Company Name
Your location
A photograph of yourself

The deadline for chapters to be sent for inclusion in the book is Friday 16 October 2020. The book will be released on Amazon Kindle Direct Publishing to coincide with International Men's Day on Thursday 19 November 2020. We are looking for 12 – 15 chapters to include in this book and strongly encourage men from the BAME community to submit a chapter for inclusion in the book.

Please Note

All proceeds from this book once costs are covered (such as proof reading costs) will be split equally between all contributors included in the book.

If you have any questions about this and being included in "The Varied Origins of the Cyber Men: Volume One" please contact:

Lisa Ventura

Editor: The Varied Origins of the Cyber Men: Volume One

Email: info@cybersecurityassociation.co.uk

Tel: 0800 772 0155

Chris Windley

Email: chris.windley@gmail.com